He Loves Me—?

The dainty flower orator may tell her true or false, but some day the prince will come and she'll dream the dear dream of home life and motherhood. In that dream she will see herself always happy, always with a smile for the husband and a kiss for the baby. What a pity to wake from such a dream, to almost loathe her husband and hate her child, because cruel pain has blighted her body and warped her mind. How many a woman has had this sad awakening from her dreams of home and love! There's help and healing for every woman who suffers from womanly diseases, caused by girlish ignorance, selfish neglect or the strain of maternity. Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription makes weak women strong and sick women well. It cures diseases of the delicate organs, stops vomiting, it is a God-send for women.

When a laxative is needed, use Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets with "Favorite Prescription."

THE NOMINEES.

A. J. MONTAGUE.

Hon. Andrew Jackson Montague, the democratic nominee for Governor of Virginia, will be the youngest man that has ever occupied the Executive Mansion of Virginia. He will be 39 years old on the third of next October. Mr. Montague was born in Campbell county, where his family resided during the war. Middlesex, the home of his father, was often in the lines of the enemy, and Lieutenant-Governor Montague carried his family to a place of safety. While Mrs. Montague was in Campbell the future Governor of Virginia was born. Mr. Montague is the son of Hon. R. L. Montague, "The Red Fox," as he was known in his day, and, as he is known to many in the Tidewater country now. The father of the subject of this sketch was at the time of his son's birth a member of the Confederate Congress, having also been a member of the convention of Virginia which passed the ordinance of secession.

When the war was ended and the family could return to their old home in Middlesex, notwithstanding the financial stress under which the family was placed, he went to the best schools in the neighborhood and laid the foundation of his education. He had, at an early age, selected the profession of law in Richmond College, which was that of his father. He was a student from 1880 to 1882. After leaving college Mr. Montague taught school for two years, though he had no idea of making that his life work. In 1884 he took the summer law course at the University of Virginia and in eight months graduated as a bachelor of law.

In 1884 the young lawyer went to the city of Danville and entered upon the practice of his profession. He soon built up a good practice, although among strangers. In 1885 President Cleveland appointed him United States attorney for the western district of this State, a position he occupied until July 23, 1897. Mr. Montague tendered his resignation upon the election of Harrison, but it was not accepted, owing to the fact that the republicans could not agree upon his successor.

During the first Bryan campaign the nominee for Governor took an active part in advocating the claims of that candidate. He stumped much of the southwestern part of the State and made a fine impression. In 1897 Mr. Montague was nominated for Attorney-General of Virginia.

Mr. Montague has won some of the most important cases in the history of the Commonwealth during his term of office as the head of the legal department of the Commonwealth. Mr. Montague was married December 9, 1890, to Miss Elizabeth Hoskins. They have three children, two girls and a boy.

JOSEPH C. WILLARD. The nominee for Lieutenant-Governor—Capt. Joseph C. Willard, of Fairfax—is one of the most popular young men in the State as he is the wealthiest. His fortune has been estimated at $8,000,000, consisting chiefly of Washington property. He has served two terms in the House of Delegates as the representative of Fairfax county, and has made himself unusually strong among the members of both branches of the Assembly.

He is the son of the late Joseph K. Willard, who was a major in the Federal army during the Civil War. His mother was Miss Antonio Ford, whose sympathies with the Southern cause was so strong that she was arrested, charged with being a Confederate spy. When Mosby captured General Stoneman at Fairfax Courthouse she was arrested upon the charge of being implicated in the capture and of leading Mosby into the town. Colonel Mosby always denied this. She was carried to the Federal lines, near Centerville, where the best citizens appeared in her behalf. The lady was offered her release upon the condition that she would take the oath to the Federal government. This the mother of the nominee for Lieutenant-Governor declined to do, and was consequently sent to the Old Capital prison at Washington. It was there that Major Willard, who was then a small child, met and fell in love with the young Virginia girl. He secured her release and carried her back to Fairfax Courthouse in a private carriage. Mr. Willard's mother, the heroine in these stirring events, died quite young. The son was left to the care of the mother's grandmother and educated at the Episcopal High School near Alexandria. He married Miss Belle L. Wyatt, of Essex county, a descendant of one of the colonial governors of Virginia. Mr. Willard has manifested in late years no little interest in politics, and has taken a prominent part in the affairs of the Eighth district, where he is very popular.

Dr. Bull's Baby Syrup for teething babies. Full-size bottle, 10 cents. Cures Wind Colic, Diarrhoea, Loss of Sleep, Griping Pains, Rotten Stomach, Fever, Cholera infantum. Dr. Bull's Baby Syrup also promotes the digestion and soothes the baby. Sold by Richard Gibson and all druggists.

Don't be satisfied with temporary relief from indigestion, Kodol Dyspepsia Cure permanently and completely removes this complaint. It relieves permanently because it allows the tired stomach perfect rest. Dieting does not strengthen a weak stomach. Kodol supplies from the food we eat. The scientific way to help the stomach is to use Kodol Dyspepsia Cure, which digests what you eat and can't help but do you good. For sale by E. B. Leach & Sons.
